Section 1	1Corinthians 13 - ¹ Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity,	⁸ Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail;	Section 2
	I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.	whether there be tongues, they shall cease;
	² And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge;	whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.
	and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.	⁹ For we know in part, and we prophesy in part.
	³ And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned,	¹⁰ But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.
	and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.	¹¹ When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child:
	⁴ Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not;	but when I became a man, I put away childish things.
	charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,	¹² For now we see through a glass, darkly; but then face to face:
	⁵ Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own,	now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known.
	is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;	¹³ And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.
	⁶ Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;
	⁷ Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.
